

EXHIBIT 178

REDACTED PUBLIC VERSION

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Sent: Wednesday, February 7, 2007 3:08 PM
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: :-) !!!

You probably heard our huge sigh of relief all the way across the Bay! Congratulations!

Starting on March 12 sound perfect and will work well with the production schedule. I will hold off on having our VP of Human Resources contact ILM until you let me know it's okay. That way we make sure the lines of communication aren't crossed. Once our VP contacts ILM and everything is official, we will mail you your "new hire" packet.

We've very excited to have you join Pixar!!

All the best,
Dawn

On Feb 7, 2007, at 10:33 AM [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

Thank you for the bonus info, that's what I thought just wanted to confirm it.

So the official word is YES! I would like to accept the offer and take the motion graphics artist position. :-) !!!!

There's 2 procedural things I would like to talk with you about. The first is start date. i believe you mentioned to me the second week in March as a potential start. I was wondering if we might move that just a little forward to March 12th Monday. I will be out of town the 5th, 6th, and 7th of March and unfortunately can't change those plans.

The second and this is a big one, I'm not sure how ILM higher up will react to my departure. They can be kind of fickle about these things, i could get a "good luck we're happy for you" or a visit from security the moment they hear.

My managers and colleagues here in the art department do know and couldn't be happier for me, I'm just not sure if that sentiment will be shared. That being said I would like to have some time to get things in order before you tell them you've made me an offer. Seven years is a long time to become entrenched and I have alot of thisis and that's that I need to clean up and take home.

So, we are in a pretty tight spot, with the 14th being next Wednesday. What I would like to propose is that we make the official word to ILM on Monday. That way I have this weekend to pack up my nick nacks and such and prepare goodbyes. Let me know if all that sounds ok. my endless thanks I can't wait to make the trip over :-)

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

I forgot to write about show bonuses so I apologize for the delay. Historically, we've always received film bonuses and we're all hoping that practice continues. In the past, everyone in the Studio has been eligible for film bonuses because they believe it takes everyone to make a film (regardless of if you're in Accounting, working on another film, Security, etc.). If they continue this practice using the same guidelines as before, you would need to be a current Pixar employee (run-of-show is okay) at the time the bonuses are distributed. For example, if we receive bonuses for RAT before February 2008, judging by past practices, you would be eligible. If someone has worked at the Studio for less than one year, we're prorated the film bonus.

Hope that helps!

Talk to you soon,
Dawn

On Feb 6, 2007, at 5:25 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

How about the end of show bonuses? How does that work? Do you have to be on premise when those go out or does it go to the crew, etc etc. That whole idea is new to me since George hasn't shared with us :-)) well maybe that's not totally fair he built us a nice place to work. Anyway, just let me know.

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

Don't worry about asking too many questions. Making career decisions can be very overwhelming and you are smart to explore and understand all the details.

Regarding stock options: The stock vests over 4 years, which means that after you pass your anniversary date, you have the option to "exercise" 25% of your total grant (in this case, the total grant is [REDACTED]). Every year someone works at Pixar, they are 25% more vesting, meaning they have access to an additional 25% of the [REDACTED] shares. Basically, [REDACTED] divided by 4 equals the amount you are able to exercise each year. You don't have to exercise your shares and can continue to stock pile (no pun intended) your shares.

I will probably be on email until 6:30 so if anything else comes up this evening, just let me know. I'm now holding my breath AND crossing my fingers.

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 6, 2007, at 4:57 PM [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

This all looks great! I will talk this through with my wife one last time and have a final answer for you tomorrow. Thank you so much for taking the time to go back and fourth with me regarding all the details.

Not to drag this on any further I just have 2 more little informational type questions. Will I be eligible for any end of show bonus?

In regards to the options, the vesting period is 12 months but I remember speaking with you about them vesting in 4 increments. Is that to say then that the offer of [REDACTED] options, I would have to stay a full 4 years to realize all those? Or are they all available at the 12 month mark but I can only exercise 25% per year?

I am soooooo sorry that all this conversation revolves around money.

Its just if I don't ask now I won't be able to ask later. I can't express to you how excited I am about this. Its difficult to start over but the prospect of working with such talented people on something so exciting is really awesome!

Thank you again

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hello [REDACTED]

We've looked at everything further and here's the latest and greatest. With regard to salary, in comparing your skill set with internal artists, we're honestly not able to increase the salary and continue to be consistent with existing Pixar employees. You are amazingly talented and we truly recognize this talent, which is why we would love to have you at the Studio. One option that we're hoping will be feasible on your end is a signing bonus.

We would like to offer you a [REDACTED] signing bonus, which you would receive the first pay check after your start date (we are paid on a weekly basis). This will help add to your base salary and hopefully will help alleviate some of the salary concerns. As we also discussed, you'll be eligible for the 401K plan, vacation, family coverage for medical/dental/vision at only $90 p/month, classes through Pixar University, etc.

We completely understand the needs of your family and are desperately keeping our fingers crossed that everything will selfishly work in our favor :-). I'm in a number of meetings this afternoon and will be difficult to reach via telephone. I apologize for sending this via email but I wanted to get this information to you as soon as possible.

Please don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

Talk to you soon,
Dawn

On Feb 5, 2007, at 9:47 AM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

Thank you for getting back to me so quickly and I certainly appreciate your candor. I feel the exact same way as PIXAR does about having artist that are there for the work and not the salary.

I want to assure you that each time I think about the prospect of working there my primary motivation is working on "W-e" with Ralph and Ellen and all the amazing talented people at PIXAR, not salary.

As I am sure you can appreciate I need to think of my other two important productions (mom and baby) :-). and what is best for them.

I have the utmost respect for Jim having worked for him on several occasions before he left ILM. I certainly appreciate you taking this matter up with him and anything you can do will be greatly appreciated. I look forward to hearing back from you.

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>

Hello [REDACTED]

I was in late meetings Friday evening so didn't receive your email until this morning. I understand your concerns regarding salary but in all honesty, I don't know how much flexibility we will have.
Pixar is a studio that offers employees an opportunity to work creatively with the knowledge that new hires are brought on board and paid fairly compared to existing Pixar employees.
We always try to put our best offer out initially because it's important to recognize one's talent from the start - so that artists don't feel the need to go back and forth regarding money. This is also one of the reasons
that we don't operate on a contract basis...it's paramount that artists are here because they enjoy the collaborative work environment while being paid a fair and respectable salary.

If I could extend the run-of-show duration of the project, I would be more than willing but unfortunately, that's not in our control.
The
production schedules are relatively set and we try to estimate
the approximate work load to the best of our ability.
There is always the possibility that a "wrap date" will run longer, but we can't make that guarantee.

You are, without a doubt, incredibly talented and I know the show feels you would be a good fit. We also can respect your concerns and understand leaving a regular full-time position can be very daunting. It's important that you feel you're being paid fairly
and within a comfortable range. As I mentioned before, we don't have much flexibility regarding salary but I will check with Jim Morris, (VP of Production) and share your concerns.
While we might not be able to increase the salary by any great amounts, perhaps we can
consider a sign on bonus.

Jim's schedule can be rather hectic but I will get time on his calendar as soon as possible. I should be able to touch base with you within the next couple days. Hope you had a nice weekend!

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 2, 2007, at 3:20 PM,

wrote:

Dawn,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for your time and this incredible opportunity to work with PIXAR. It has been my career

goal to work with such a collaborative and creative studio. I have reviewed the offer and want to discuss some concerns.

My first concern is that the offer is substantially less than my current earnings (my salary plus my contract work). It was my hope that I could put aside my contract work and focus completely on
the position at PIXAR.
Considering
my discussions with Ellen, I feel that my skills and past experience uniquely qualify me for this project,
and that the breadth of my proficiency will prove valuable to the production as a whole and PIXAR into the future.

My second concern is that the duration of the position is run-of-show.

Although I completely understand that PIXAR makes no discernment between run-of-show employees and regular employees, the difference for me are my fiscal responsibilities and the longer term health of my career.

I appreciate the production's need for this particular skill set and the uncertainty of whether this need will extend past the production. I came to ILM seven years ago with a similar scenario, as a web designer. However, since I've been at ILM, I have learned, worked, and excelled in every aspect of shot production. This is work that I am proud of and confident in and it is easy for me leveraging it to a long future with PIXAR.

In my previous email to you, I mentioned that this opportunity was a close second to my marriage and birth of our first child.
This
is an honest comparison for me, as it has been my history to pour just as much passion into my profession. I would like to contribute this same passion and professionalis m to PIXAR.
Do you have flexibility in the offer to either bring the run-
of-show compensation
up to [REDACTED] or make the offer a contract position with a duration longer than a 11 months? I'm confident we'll be able to meet in the middle.
Please give me a call so we can discuss this further.

Sincerely,

Original message -----

From: Dawn
Haagstad <dawn@pixar.
com>

Hi

As I m en tio ne d du rin g ou r ph on e co nv er sat io
n, att ac he d is an ex pl an ati
on of Pi xa r's sta nd ar d

be ne
fit s, w hi ch wi ll he lp gi ve yo u an id ea of
th e ov er all co m pe ns
ati on pa ck ag e.
Pl ea se re vi e w thi s inf or m ati on an d do n't he sit at e
to co nt

ac t m e wi th an y qu est io ns
.

W e'r
e all ve ry ex
cit ed ab ou t th e pr os pe ct
of yo u joi ni ng Pi xa
r an d I lo ok fo rw ar
d
to sp ea
ki ng
wi th yo u so on
.

Ta ke ca re, D
a w n

From: Dawn
Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.
com>
Date: February 1, 2007 5:04:28
PM PST
To:
[REDACTED] Subject: Pixar's
Benefits
Information

<Benefits Form .doc>

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 5, 2007 9:22:12 AM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Pixar's Benefits
Information

Hello [REDACTED]

I was in late meetings Friday evening
so didn't receive your email until this morning. I understand your concerns regarding salary but in all honesty, I don't know how much flexibility we will have. Pixar is a studio that offers employees an opportunity to work creatively with the knowledge that new hires are brought on board and paid fairly compared to existing Pixar employees. We always try to put our best offer out initially because it's important to recognize one's talent from the start - so that artists don't feel the need to go back and forth regarding money. This is also one of the reasons that we don't operate on a contract basis...it's paramount that artists are here because they enjoy the collaborative work environment while being paid a fair and respectable salary.

If I could extend the run-of-show duration of the project, I would be more than willing but unfortunately, that's not in our control. The production schedules are relatively set and we try to estimate the approximate work load to the best of our ability. There is always the possibility that a "wrap date" will run longer, but we can't make that guarantee.

You are, without a doubt, incredibly talented and I know the show feels you would be a good fit. We also can respect your concerns and understand leaving a regular full-time position can be very daunting. It's important that you feel you're being paid fairly and within a comfortable range. As I mentioned before, we don't have much flexibility regarding salary but I will check with Jim Morris, (VP of Production) and share your concerns. While we might not be able to increase the salary by any great amounts, perhaps we can consider a sign on bonus.

Jim's schedule can be rather hectic but I will get time on his calendar as soon as possible. I should be able to touch base with you within the next couple days. Hope you had a nice weekend!

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 2, 2007, at 3:20 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for your time and this incredible opportunity to work with PIXAR. It has been my career goal to work with such a collaborative and creative studio. I have reviewed the offer and want to discuss some concerns.

My first concern is that the offer is substantially less than my current earnings (my salary plus my contract work). It was my hope that I could put aside my contract work and focus completely on the position at PIXAR. Considering my discussions with Ellen, I feel that my skills and past experience uniquely qualify me for this project, and that the breadth of my proficiency will prove valuable to the production as a whole and PIXAR into the future.

My second concern is that the duration of the position is run-of-show.

Although I completely understand that PIXAR makes no discernment between run-of-show employees and regular employees, the difference for me are my fiscal responsibilities and the longer term health of my career.

I appreciate the production's need for this particular skill set and the uncertainty of whether this need will extend past the production. I came to ILM seven years ago with a similar scenario, as a web designer. However, since I've been at ILM, I have learned, worked, and excelled in every aspect of shot production. This is work that I am proud of and confident in and it is easy for me leveraging it to a long future with PIXAR.

In my previous email to you, I mentioned that this opportunity was a close second to my marriage and birth of our first child. This is an honest comparison for me, as it has been my history to pour just as much passion into my profession. I would like to contribute this same passion and professionalism to PIXAR. Do you have flexibility in the offer to either bring the run-of-show compensation up to [REDACTED] or make the offer a contract position with a duration longer than a 11 months? I'm confident we'll be able to meet in the middle. Please give me a call so we can discuss this further.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

----- Original
message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

As I
mentioned during our phone
conversation,
attached is an explanation of Pixar's
standard
benefits,
which will help give you an idea of the overall compensation
package.
Please review
this information
and don't hesitate to contact me
with any questions.

We're all very excited about
the prospect of you joining Pixar
and I look forward
to speaking
with you soon.

Take care,
Dawn

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 1, 2007
5:04:28 PM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Pixar's Benefits
Information

<Benefits Form .doc>

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 6, 2007 4:13:15 PM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Pixar's Benefits Information

Hello [REDACTED]

We've looked at everything further and here's the latest and greatest. With regard to salary, in comparing your skill set with internal artists, we're honestly not able to increase the salary and continue to be consistent with existing Pixar employees. You are amazingly talented and we truly recognize this talent, which is why we would love to have you at the Studio. One option that we're hoping will be feasible on your end is a signing bonus.

We would like to offer you a [REDACTED] signing bonus, which you would receive the first pay check after your start date (we are paid on a weekly basis). This will help add to your base salary and hopefully will help alleviate some of the salary concerns. As we also discussed, you'll be eligible for the 401K plan, vacation, family coverage for medical/dental/vision at only $90 p/month, classes through Pixar University, etc.

We completely understand the needs of your family and are desperately keeping our fingers crossed that everything will selfishly work in our favor :-). I'm in a number of meetings this afternoon and will be difficult to reach via telephone. I apologize for sending this via email but I wanted to get this information to you as soon as possible.

Please don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

Talk to you soon,
Dawn

On Feb 5, 2007, at 9:47 AM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

Thank you for getting back to me so quickly and I certainly appreciate your candor. I feel the exact same way as PIXAR does about having artist that are there for the work and not the salary. I want to assure you that each time I think about the prospect of working there my primary motivation is working on "We" with Ralph and Ellen and all the amazing talented people at PIXAR, not salary. As I am sure you can appreciate I need to think of my other two important productions (mom and baby) ;-) and what is best for them.

I have the utmost respect for Jim having worked for him on several occasions before he left ILM. I certainly appreciate you taking this matter up with him and anything you can do will be greatly appreciated. I look forward to hearing back from you.

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hello [REDACTED]

I was in late meetings Friday evening
so didn't receive your email
until this morning. I understand your concerns regarding salary but
in all honesty, I don't know how much flexibility we will have.
Pixar is a studio that offers employees
an opportunity to work creatively with the knowledge that new hires are brought on board and paid fairly compared to existing Pixar employees. We always try to put our best offer out initially because it's important to recognize one's talent from the start - so that artists don't feel the need to go back and forth regarding money.
This is also one of the reasons
that we don't operate on a contract basis...it's paramount that artists are here because they enjoy the collaborative work environment while being paid a fair and respectable salary.

If I could extend the run-of-show duration of the project, I would be more than willing but unfortunately, that's not in our control. The production schedules are relatively set and we try to estimate the approximate work load to the best of our ability. There is always the possibility that a "wrap date" will run longer, but we can't make

that guarantee.

You are, without a doubt, incredibly talented and I know the show feels you would be a good fit. We also can respect your concerns
and understand leaving a regular full-time position can be very daunting. It's important that you feel you're being paid fairly and within a comfortable range. As I mentioned before, we don't have much flexibility regarding salary but I will check with Jim Morris, (VP of Production) and share your concerns. While we might not be able to increase the salary by any great amounts, perhaps we can consider a sign on bonus.

Jim's schedule can be rather hectic but I will get time on his calendar as soon as possible. I should be able to touch base with you within the next couple days. Hope you had a nice weekend!

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 2, 2007, at 3:20 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for your time and this incredible opportunity to work with PIXAR. It has been my career
goal
to work with such a collaborative and creative studio. I have reviewed the offer and want to discuss some concerns.

My first concern is that the offer is substantially less than my current earnings (my salary plus my contract work). It was my hope that I could put aside my contract work and focus completely on the position at PIXAR. Considering my discussions with Ellen, I feel that my skills and past experience uniquely qualify me for this project, and that the breadth of my proficiency will prove valuable to the production as a whole and PIXAR into the future.

My second concern is that the duration of the position is run-of-show.

Although I completely understand that PIXAR makes no discernment between run-of-show employees and regular employees, the difference for me are my fiscal responsibilities and the longer term health of my career.

I appreciate the production's need for this particular skill set and the uncertainty of whether this need will extend past the production. I came to ILM seven years ago with a similar scenario, as a web designer. However, since I've been at ILM, I have learned,

worked, and excelled in every aspect of shot production. This is work that I am proud of and confident in
and it is easy for me
leveraging it
to a long future with PIXAR.

In my previous email to you, I mentioned that this opportunity
was a close second to my marriage and birth of our first child. This is an honest comparison for me, as it has been my history
to pour
just as much passion into my profession. I would like to contribute this
same passion and
professionalism to PIXAR.
Do you have flexibility in
the
offer to either bring the run-of-show compensation
up to [REDACTED] or make the offer a contract
position with a duration longer than a 11
months? I'm confident we'll be able to meet in the middle.
Please give me a call so we can discuss this further.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

----- Original
message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

As I
mentioned

during our phone
conversation,
attached is an explanation of Pixar's
standard
benefits,
which will help give you an idea of the overall compensation
package.
Please review
this information
and don't hesitate to contact me
with any questions.

We're all very excited about
the prospect of you joining Pixar
and I look forward
to speaking
with you soon.

Take care,
Dawn

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 1, 2007
5:04:28 PM PST
To:
[REDACTED] Subject: Pixar's Benefits
Information

<Benefits Form .doc>

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 5, 2007 9:22:12 AM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Pixar's Benefits Information

Hello [REDACTED]

I was in late meetings Friday evening so didn't receive your email until this morning. I understand your concerns regarding salary but in all honesty, I don't know how much flexibility we will have. Pixar is a studio that offers employees an opportunity to work creatively with the knowledge that new hires are brought on board and paid fairly compared to existing Pixar employees. We always try to put our best offer out initially because it's important to recognize one's talent from the start - so that artists don't feel the need to go back and forth regarding money. This is also one of the reasons that we don't operate on a contract basis...it's paramount that artists are here because they enjoy the collaborative work environment while being paid a fair and respectable salary.

If I could extend the run-of-show duration of the project, I would be more than willing but unfortunately, that's not in our control. The production schedules are relatively set and we try to estimate the approximate work load to the best of our ability. There is always the possibility that a "wrap date" will run longer, but we can't make that guarantee.

You are, without a doubt, incredibly talented and I know the show feels you would be a good fit. We also can respect your concerns and understand leaving a regular full-time position can be very daunting. It's important that you feel you're being paid fairly and within a comfortable range. As I mentioned before, we don't have much flexibility regarding salary but I will check with Jim Morris, (VP of Production) and share your concerns. While we might not be able to increase the salary by any great amounts, perhaps we can consider a sign on bonus.

Jim's schedule can be rather hectic but I will get time on his calendar as soon as possible. I should be able to touch base with you within the next couple days. Hope you had a nice weekend!

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 2, 2007, at 3:20 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for your time and this incredible opportunity to work with PIXAR. It has been my career goal to work with such a collaborative and creative studio. I have reviewed the offer and want to discuss some concerns.

My first concern is that the offer is substantially less than my current earnings (my salary plus my contract work). It was my hope that I could put aside my contract work and focus completely on the position at PIXAR. Considering my discussions with Ellen, I feel that my skills and past experience uniquely qualify me for this project, and that the breadth of my proficiency will prove valuable to the production as a whole and PIXAR into the future.

My second concern is that the duration of the position is run-of-show.

Although I completely understand that PIXAR makes no discernment between run-of-show employees and regular employees, the difference for me are my fiscal responsibilities and the longer term health of my career.

I appreciate the production's need for this particular skill set and the uncertainty of whether this need will extend past the production.

I came to ILM seven years ago with a similar scenario, as a web designer. However, since I've been at ILM, I have learned, worked, and excelled in every aspect of shot production. This is work that I am proud of and confident in and it is easy for me leveraging it to a long future with PIXAR.

In my previous email to you, I mentioned that this opportunity was a close second to my marriage and birth of our first child. This is an honest comparison for me, as it has been my history to pour just as much passion into my profession. I would like to contribute this same passion and professionalism to PIXAR. Do you have flexibility in the offer to either bring the run-of-show compensation up to [REDACTED] or make the offer a contract position with a duration longer than a 11 months? I'm confident we'll be able to meet in the middle. Please give me a call so we can discuss this further.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

As I mentioned during our phone conversation, attached is an explanation of Pixar's standard benefits, which will help give you an idea of the overall compensation package.

Please review this information and don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

We're all very excited about the prospect of you joining Pixar
and I look forward to speaking with you soon.

Take care,
Dawn

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 1, 2007 5:04:28 PM
PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Pixar's Benefits Information

<Benefits Form .doc>

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 6, 2007 5:20:42 PM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Pixar's Benefits Information

Hi [REDACTED]

Don't worry about asking too many questions. Making career decisions can be very overwhelming and you are smart to explore and understand all the details.

Regarding stock options: The stock vests over 4 years, which means that after you pass your anniversary date, you have the option to "exercise" 25% of your total grant (in this case, the total grant is [REDACTED]. Every year someone works at Pixar, they are 25% more vesting, meaning they have access to an additional 25% of the [REDACTED] shares. Basically, [REDACTED] divided by 4 equals the amount you are able to exercise each year. You don't have to exercise your shares and can continue to stock pile (no pun intended) your shares.

I will probably be on email until 6:30 so if anything else comes up this evening, just let me know. I'm now holding my breath AND crossing my fingers.

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 6, 2007, at 4:57 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

This all looks great! I will talk this through with my wife one last time and have a final answer for you tomorrow. Thank you so much for taking the time to go back and fourth with me regarding all the details.

Not to drag this on any further I just have 2 more little informational type questions. Will I be eligible for any end of show bonus?

In regards to the options, the vesting period is 12 months but I remember speaking with you about them vesting in 4 increments. Is that to say then that the offer of [REDACTED] options, I would have to stay a full 4 years to realize all those? Or are they all available at the 12 month mark but I can only exercise 25% per year?

I am sooooo sorry that all this conversation revolves around money. Its just if I don't ask now I won't be able to ask later. I can't express to you how excited I am about this. Its difficult to start over but the prospect of working with such talented people on something so exciting is really awesome!

Thank you again

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hello [REDACTED]

We've looked at everything further and here's the latest and greatest. With regard to salary, in comparing your skill set with internal artists, we're honestly not able to increase the salary and continue to be consistent with existing Pixar employees. You are amazingly talented and we truly recognize this talent, which is why we would love to have you at the Studio. One option that we're hoping will be feasible on your end is a signing bonus.

We would like to offer you a $[REDACTED] signing bonus, which you would receive the first pay check after your start date (we are paid on a weekly basis). This will help add to your base salary and hopefully will help alleviate some of the salary concerns. As we also discussed, you'll be eligible for the 401K plan, vacation, family coverage for medical/dental/vision at only $[REDACTED] p/month, classes through Pixar University, etc.

We completely understand the needs of your family and are desperately keeping our fingers crossed that everything will selfishly work in our favor :-). I'm in a number of meetings this afternoon and will be difficult to reach via telephone. I apologize for sending this via email but I wanted to get this information to you as soon as possible.

Please don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

Talk to you soon,
Dawn

On Feb 5, 2007, at 9:47 AM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

Thank you for getting back to me so quickly and I certainly appreciate your candor. I feel the exact same way as PIXAR does about having artist that are there for the work and not the salary.
I want to assure you that each time I think about the prospect of working there my primary motivation is working on "W-e" with Ralph and Ellen and all the amazing talented people at PIXAR, not salary.
As I am sure you can appreciate I need to think of my other two important productions (mom and baby) ;-) and what is best for them.

I have the utmost respect for Jim having worked for him on several occasions before he left ILM. I certainly appreciate you taking
this matter up with him and anything you can do will be greatly appreciated. I look forward to hearing back from you.

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hello [REDACTED]

I was in late meetings Friday evening
so didn't receive your email
until this morning. I understand your concerns regarding salary but
in all honesty, I don't know how much flexibility we will have.
Pixar is a studio that offers employees
an opportunity to work
creatively with the knowledge that new hires are brought on board and

paid fairly compared to existing Pixar employees. We always try to put our best offer out initially because it's important to recognize one's talent from the start - so that artists don't feel the need to go back and forth regarding money. This is also one of the reasons that we don't operate on a contract basis...it's paramount that artists are here because they enjoy the collaborative work environment while being paid a fair and respectable salary.

If I could extend the run-of-show duration of the project, I would be more than willing but unfortunately, that's not in our control. The production schedules are relatively set and we try to estimate the approximate work load to the best of our ability. There is always the possibility that a "wrap date" will run longer, but we can't make that guarantee.

You are, without a doubt, incredibly talented and I know the show feels you would be a good fit. We also can respect your concerns and understand leaving a regular full-time position can be very daunting. It's important that you feel you're being paid fairly and within a comfortable range. As I mentioned before, we don't have much flexibility regarding salary but I will check with Jim Morris, (VP of Production) and share your concerns. While we might not be able to increase the salary by any great amounts, perhaps we can consider a sign on bonus.

Jim's schedule can be rather hectic but I will get time on his calendar as soon as possible. I should be able to touch base with you within the next couple days. Hope you had a nice weekend!

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 2, 2007, at 3:20 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for your time and this incredible opportunity to work with PIXAR. It has been my career goal to work with such a collaborative and creative studio. I have reviewed the offer and want to discuss some concerns.

My first concern is that the offer is substantially less than my current earnings (my salary plus my contract work). It was my hope that I could put aside my contract work and focus completely on the position at PIXAR. Considering my discussions with Ellen, I feel that my skills and past experience uniquely qualify me for this project, and that the breadth of my proficiency will prove valuable to the production as a whole and PIXAR into the future.

My second concern is that the duration of the position is run-of-show. Although I completely understand that PIXAR makes no discernment between run-of-show employees and regular employees, the difference

for me are my fiscal responsibilities and the longer term health
of my career.

I appreciate the production's need for this particular skill
set and
the uncertainty of whether this need will extend past
the production.
I came to ILM seven years ago with a similar scenario, as a web designer. However, since I've been at ILM, I have learned,
worked, and excelled in every aspect of shot production. This is work that I am proud of and confident in
and it is easy for me
leveraging it
to a long future with PIXAR.

In my previous email to you, I mentioned that this opportunity
was a close second to my marriage and birth of our first child. This is an honest comparison for me, as it has been my history
to pour
just as much passion into my profession. I would like to contribute this
same passion and
professionalism to PIXAR.
Do you have flexibility
in the
offer to either bring the run-of-show compensation
up to $[REDACTED] or make the offer a contract
position with a duration longer than a 11
months? I'm confident

we'll be able to meet in the middle. Please give me a call so we can discuss this further.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

----- Original
message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

As I
mentioned during our phone
conversation,
attached is an explanation of Pixar's
standard
benefits,
which will help give you an idea of the overall compensation
package.
Please review
this information
and don't hesitate to contact me
with any questions.

We're all very excited about
the prospect of you joining Pixar
and I look forward
to speaking
with you soon.

Take care,
Dawn

From: Dawn Haagstad

<dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 1, 2007
5:04:28 PM PST
To:
[REDACTED] Subject: Pixar's Benefits
Information

<Benefits Form .doc>

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 5, 2007 9:22:12 AM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Pixar's Benefits Information

Hello [REDACTED]

I was in late meetings Friday evening so didn't receive your email until this morning. I understand your concerns regarding salary but in all honesty, I don't know how much flexibility we will have. Pixar is a studio that offers employees an opportunity to work creatively with the knowledge that new hires are brought on board and paid fairly compared to existing Pixar employees. We always try to put our best offer out initially because it's important to recognize one's talent from the start - so that artists don't feel the need to go back and forth regarding money. This is also one of the reasons that we don't operate on a contract basis...it's paramount that artists are here because they enjoy the collaborative work environment while being paid a fair and respectable salary.

If I could extend the run-of-show duration of the project, I would be more than willing but unfortunately, that's not in our control. The production schedules are relatively set and we try to estimate the approximate work load to the best of our ability. There is always the possibility that a "wrap date" will run longer, but we can't make that guarantee.

You are, without a doubt, incredibly talented and I know the show feels you would be a good fit. We also can respect your concerns and understand leaving a regular full-time position can be very daunting. It's important that you feel you're being paid fairly and within a comfortable range. As I mentioned before, we don't have much flexibility regarding salary but I will check with Jim Morris, (VP of Production) and share your concerns. While we might not be able to increase the salary by any great amounts, perhaps we can consider a sign on bonus.

Jim's schedule can be rather hectic but I will get time on his calendar as soon as possible. I should be able to touch base with you within the next couple days. Hope you had a nice weekend!

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 2, 2007, at 3:20 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for your time and this incredible opportunity to work with PIXAR. It has been my career goal to work with such a collaborative and creative studio. I have reviewed the offer and want to discuss some concerns.

My first concern is that the offer is substantially less than my current earnings (my salary plus my contract work). It was my hope that I could put aside my contract work and focus completely on the position at PIXAR. Considering my discussions with Ellen, I feel that my skills and past experience uniquely qualify me for this project, and that the breadth of my proficiency will prove valuable to the production as a whole and PIXAR into the future.

My second concern is that the duration of the position is run-of-show.

Although I completely understand that PIXAR makes no discernment between run-of-show employees and regular employees, the difference for me are my fiscal responsibilities and the longer term health of my career.

I appreciate the production's need for this particular skill set and the uncertainty of whether this need will extend past the production.

I came to ILM seven years ago with a similar scenario, as a web designer. However, since I've been at ILM, I have learned, worked, and excelled in every aspect of shot production. This is work that I am proud of and confident in and it is easy for me leveraging it to a long future with PIXAR.

In my previous email to you, I mentioned that this opportunity was a close second to my marriage and birth of our first child. This is an honest comparison for me, as it has been my history to pour just as much passion into my profession. I would like to contribute this same passion and professionalism to PIXAR. Do you have flexibility in the offer to either bring the run-of-show compensation up to $[REDACTED] or make the offer a contract position with a duration longer than a 11 months? I'm confident we'll be able to meet in the middle. Please give me a call so we can discuss this further.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

As I mentioned during our phone conversation, attached is an explanation of Pixar's standard benefits, which will help give you an idea of the overall compensation package. Please review this information and don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

We're all very excited about the prospect of you joining Pixar and I look forward to speaking with you soon.

Take care,
Dawn

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 1, 2007 5:04:28 PM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Pixar's Benefits Information

<Benefits Form .doc>

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 6, 2007 4:13:15 PM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Pixar's Benefits Information

Hello [REDACTED]

We've looked at everything further and here's the latest and greatest. With regard to salary, in comparing your skill set with internal artists, we're honestly not able to increase the salary and continue to be consistent with existing Pixar employees. You are amazingly talented and we truly recognize this talent, which is why we would love to have you at the Studio. One option that we're hoping will be feasible on your end is a signing bonus.

We would like to offer you a $[REDACTED] signing bonus, which you would receive the first pay check after your start date (we are paid on a weekly basis). This will help add to your base salary and hopefully will help alleviate some of the salary concerns. As we also discussed, you'll be eligible for the 401K plan, vacation, family coverage for medical/dental/vision at only $90 p/month, classes through Pixar University, etc.

We completely understand the needs of your family and are desperately keeping our fingers crossed that everything will selfishly work in our favor :-). I'm in a number of meetings this afternoon and will be difficult to reach via telephone. I apologize for sending this via email but I wanted to get this information to you as soon as possible.

Please don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

Talk to you soon,
Dawn

On Feb 5, 2007, at 9:47 AM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

Thank you for getting back to me so quickly and I certainly appreciate your candor. I feel the exact same way as PIXAR does about having artist that are there for the work and not the salary. I want to assure you that each time I think about the prospect of working there my primary motivation is working on "W-e" with Ralph and Ellen and all the amazing talented people at PIXAR, not salary. As I am sure you can appreciate I need to think of my other two important productions (mom and baby) :-) and what is best for them.

I have the utmost respect for Jim having worked for him on several occasions before he left ILM. I certainly appreciate you taking this matter up with him and anything you can do will be greatly appreciated. I look forward to hearing back from you.

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hello [REDACTED]

I was in late meetings Friday evening so didn't receive your email until this morning. I understand your concerns regarding salary but in all honesty, I don't know how much flexibility we will have. Pixar is a studio that offers employees an opportunity to work creatively with the knowledge that new hires are brought on board and paid fairly compared to existing Pixar employees. We always try to put our best offer out initially because it's important to recognize one's talent from the start - so that artists don't feel the need to go back and forth regarding money. This is also one of the reasons that we don't operate on a contract basis...it's paramount that artists are here because they enjoy the collaborative work environment while being paid a fair and respectable salary.

If I could extend the run-of-show duration of the project, I would be more than willing but unfortunately, that's not in our control. The production schedules are relatively set and we try to estimate the approximate work load to the best of our ability. There is always the possibility that a "wrap date" will run longer, but we can't make that guarantee.

You are, without a doubt, incredibly talented and I know the show feels you would be a good fit. We also can respect your concerns and understand leaving a regular full-time position can be very daunting. It's important that you feel you're being paid fairly and within a comfortable range. As I mentioned before, we don't have much flexibility regarding salary but I will check with Jim Morris, (VP of Production) and share your concerns. While we might not be able to increase the salary by any great amounts,

perhaps we can
consider a sign on bonus.

Jim's schedule can be rather hectic but I will get time on his calendar as soon as possible. I should be able to touch base with you within the next couple days. Hope you had a nice weekend!

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 2, 2007, at 3:20 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for your time and this incredible opportunity to work with PIXAR. It has been my career goal to work with such a collaborative and creative studio. I have reviewed
the offer and want to discuss some concerns.

My first concern is that the offer is substantially less than my current earnings (my salary plus my contract work). It was my hope that I could put aside my contract work and focus completely on
the position at PIXAR. Considering my discussions with Ellen, I feel that my skills and past experience uniquely qualify me for this project,
and that the breadth of my proficiency will prove valuable to the production as a whole and PIXAR into the future.

My second concern is that the duration of the position is run-
of-show.
Although I completely understand that PIXAR makes no discernment between run-of-show employees and regular employees, the difference
for me are my fiscal responsibilities and the longer term health of my career.

I appreciate the production's need for this particular skill set and the uncertainty of whether this need will extend past the production.

I came to ILM seven years ago with a similar scenario, as a web designer. However, since I've been at ILM, I have learned, worked, and excelled in every aspect of shot production. This is work that I am proud of and confident in and it is easy for me leveraging it to a long future with PIXAR.

In my previous email to you, I mentioned that this opportunity was a close second to my marriage and birth of our first child. This is an honest comparison for me, as it has been my history to pour just as much passion into my profession. I would like to contribute this same passion and professionalism to PIXAR. Do you have flexibility in the offer to either bring the run-of-show compensation up to $[REDACTED] or make the offer a contract position with a duration longer than a 11 months? I'm confident we'll be able to meet in the middle. Please give me a call so we can discuss this further.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

As I mentioned during our phone conversation, attached is an explanation of Pixar's standard benefits, which will help give

you an idea of the overall compensation package.
Please review this information and don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

We're all very excited about the prospect of you joining Pixar
and I look forward to speaking with you soon.

Take care,
Dawn

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 1, 2007 5:04:28 PM
PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Pixar's Benefits Information

<Benefits Form .doc>

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 5, 2007 9:22:12 AM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Pixar's Benefits Information

Hello [REDACTED]

I was in late meetings Friday evening so didn't receive your email until this morning. I understand your concerns regarding salary but in all honesty, I don't know how much flexibility we will have. Pixar is a studio that offers employees an opportunity to work creatively with the knowledge that new hires are brought on board and paid fairly compared to existing Pixar employees. We always try to put our best offer out initially because it's important to recognize one's talent from the start - so that artists don't feel the need to go back and forth regarding money. This is also one of the reasons that we don't operate on a contract basis...it's paramount that artists are here because they enjoy the collaborative work environment while being paid a fair and respectable salary.

If I could extend the run-of-show duration of the project, I would be more than willing but unfortunately, that's not in our control. The production schedules are relatively set and we try to estimate the approximate work load to the best of our ability. There is always the possibility that a "wrap date" will run longer, but we can't make that guarantee.

You are, without a doubt, incredibly talented and I know the show feels you would be a good fit. We also can respect your concerns and understand leaving a regular full-time position can be very daunting. It's important that you feel you're being paid fairly and within a comfortable range. As I mentioned before, we don't have much flexibility regarding salary but I will check with Jim Morris, (VP of Production) and share your concerns. While we might not be able to increase the salary by any great amounts, perhaps we can consider a sign on bonus.

Jim's schedule can be rather hectic but I will get time on his calendar as soon as possible. I should be able to touch base with you within the next couple days. Hope you had a nice weekend!

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 2, 2007, at 3:20 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for your time and this incredible opportunity to work with PIXAR. It has been my career goal to work with such a collaborative and creative studio. I have reviewed the offer and want to discuss some concerns.

My first concern is that the offer is substantially less than my current earnings (my salary plus my contract work). It was my hope that I could put aside my contract work and focus completely on the position at PIXAR. Considering my discussions with Ellen, I feel that my skills and past experience uniquely qualify me for this project, and that the breadth of my proficiency will prove valuable to the production as a whole and PIXAR into the future.

My second concern is that the duration of the position is run-of-show.

Although I completely understand that PIXAR makes no discernment between run-of-show employees and regular employees, the difference for me are my fiscal responsibilities and the longer term health of my career.

I appreciate the production's need for this particular skill set and the uncertainty of whether this need will extend past the production.

I came to ILM seven years ago with a similar scenario, as a web designer. However, since I've been at ILM, I have learned, worked, and excelled in every aspect of shot production. This is work that I am proud of and confident in and it is easy for me leveraging it to a long future with PIXAR.

In my previous email to you, I mentioned that this opportunity was a close second to my marriage and birth of our first child. This is an honest comparison for me, as it has been my history to pour just as much passion into my profession. I would like to contribute this same passion and professionalism to PIXAR. Do you have flexibility in the offer to either bring the run-of-show compensation up to [REDACTED] or make the offer a contract position with a duration longer than a 11 months? I'm confident we'll be able to meet in the middle. Please give me a call so we can discuss this further.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

As I mentioned during our phone conversation, attached is an explanation of Pixar's standard benefits, which will help give you an idea of the overall compensation package. Please review this information and don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

We're all very excited about the prospect of you joining Pixar and I look forward to speaking with you soon.

Take care,
Dawn

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 1, 2007 5:04:28 PM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Pixar's Benefits Information

<Benefits Form .doc>

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 7, 2007 8:42:37 AM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Pixar's Benefits Information

I forgot to write about show bonuses so I apologize for the delay. Historically, we've always received film bonuses and we're all hoping that practice continues. In the past, everyone in the Studio has been eligible for film bonuses because they believe it takes everyone to make a film (regardless of if you're in Accounting, working on another film, Security, etc.). If they continue this practice using the same guidelines as before, you would need to be a current Pixar employee (run-of-show is okay) at the time the bonuses are distributed. For example, if we receive bonuses for RAT before February 2008, judging by past practices, you would be eligible. If someone has worked at the Studio for less than one year, we're prorated the film bonus.

Hope that helps!

Talk to you soon,
Dawn

On Feb 6, 2007, at 5:25 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

How about the end of show bonuses? How does that work? Do you have to be on premise when those go out or does it go to the crew, etc etc. That whole idea is new to me since George hasn't shared with us :-) well maybe that's not totally fair he built us a nice place to work. Anyway, just let me know.

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

Don't worry about asking too many questions. Making career decisions can be very overwhelming and you are smart to explore and understand all the details.

Regarding stock options: The stock vests over 4 years, which means that after you pass your anniversary date, you have the option to "exercise" 25% of your total grant (in this case, the total grant is [REDACTED]). Every year someone works at Pixar, they are 25% more vesting, meaning they have access to an additional 25% of the [REDACTED] shares. Basically, [REDACTED] divided by 4 equals the amount you are able to exercise each year. You don't have to exercise your shares and can continue to stock pile (no pun intended) your shares.

I will probably be on email until 6:30 so if anything else comes up this evening, just let me know. I'm now holding my breath AND crossing my fingers.

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 6, 2007, at 4:57 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

This all looks great! I will talk this through with my wife one last time and have a final answer for you tomorrow. Thank you so much for taking the time to go back and fourth with me regarding all the details.

Not to drag this on any further I just have 2 more little informational type questions. Will I be eligible for any end of show bonus?

In regards to the options, the vesting period is 12 months but I remember speaking with you about them vesting in 4 increments. Is that to say then that the offer of [REDACTED] options, I would have to stay a full 4 years to realize all those? Or are they all available at the 12 month mark but I can only exercise 25% per year?

I am soooooo sorry that all this conversation revolves around money. Its just if I don't ask now I won't be able to ask later. I can't express to you how excited I am about this. Its difficult to start over but the prospect of working with such talented people on something so exciting is really awesome!

Thank you again

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hello [REDACTED]

We've looked at everything further and here's the latest and greatest. With regard to salary, in comparing your skill set with internal artists, we're honestly not able to increase the salary and continue to be consistent with existing Pixar employees. You are amazingly talented and we truly recognize this talent, which is why we would love to have you at the Studio. One option that we're hoping will be feasible on your end is a signing bonus.

We would like to offer you a $[REDACTED] signing bonus, which you would receive the first pay check after your start date (we are paid on a weekly basis). This will help add to your base salary and hopefully will help alleviate some of the salary concerns. As we also discussed, you'll be eligible for the 401K plan, vacation, family coverage for medical/dental/vision at only $90 p/month, classes through Pixar University, etc.

We completely understand the needs of your family and are desperately keeping our fingers crossed that everything will selfishly work in our favor :-). I'm in a number of meetings this afternoon and will be difficult to reach via telephone. I apologize for sending this via email but I wanted to get this information to you as soon as possible.

Please don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

Talk to you soon,
Dawn

On Feb 5, 2007, at 9:47 AM [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

Thank you for getting back to me so quickly and I certainly appreciate your candor. I feel the exact same way as PIXAR does about having artist that are there for the work and not the salary. I want to assure you that each time I think about the prospect of working there my primary motivation is working on "W-c" with Ralph and Ellen and all the amazing talented people at PIXAR, not salary. As I am sure you can appreciate I need to think of my other two important productions (mom and baby) :-). and what is best for them.

I have the utmost respect for Jim having worked for him on several occasions before he left ILM. I certainly appreciate you taking this matter up with him and anything you can do will be greatly appreciated. I look forward to hearing back from you.

██████████

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hello ██████████

I was in late meetings Friday evening so didn't receive your email until this morning. I understand your concerns regarding salary but in all honesty, I don't know how much flexibility we will have. Pixar is a studio that offers employees an opportunity to work creatively with the knowledge that new hires are brought on board and paid fairly compared to existing Pixar employees. We always try to put our best offer out initially because it's important to recognize one's talent from the start - so that artists don't feel the need to go back and forth regarding money. This is also one of the reasons that we don't operate on a contract basis...it's paramount that artists are here because they enjoy the collaborative work environment while being paid a fair and respectable salary.

If I could extend the run-of-show duration of the project, I would be more than willing but unfortunately, that's not in our control. The production schedules are relatively set and we try to estimate the approximate work load to the best of our ability. There is always the possibility that a "wrap date" will run longer, but we can't make that guarantee.

You are, without a doubt, incredibly talented and I know the show feels you would be a good fit. We also can respect your concerns and understand leaving a regular full-time position can be very daunting. It's important that you feel you're being paid fairly and within a comfortable range. As I mentioned before, we don't have much flexibility regarding salary but I will check with Jim Morris, (VP of Production) and share your concerns. While we might not be able to increase the salary by any great amounts, perhaps we can consider a sign on bonus.

Jim's schedule can be rather hectic but I will get time on his calendar as soon as possible. I should be able to touch base with you within the next couple days. Hope you had a nice weekend!

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 2, 2007, at 3:20 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for your time and this incredible opportunity to work with PIXAR. It has been my career goal to work with such a collaborative and creative studio. I have reviewed the offer and want to discuss some concerns.

My first concern is that the offer is substantially less than my current earnings (my salary plus my contract work). It was my hope that I could put aside my contract work and focus

completely on
the
position at PIXAR.
Considering my discussions with Ellen, I feel
that my skills and past experience uniquely qualify me for this project,
and that the breadth of my proficiency will prove valuable to the production as a whole and PIXAR into the future.

My second concern is that the duration of the position is run-of-show.

Although I completely understand that PIXAR
makes no discernment
between run-of-show employees and regular employees, the difference
for me are my fiscal responsibilities and the longer term health
of my career.

I appreciate the
production's need for this particular skill
set and
the uncertainty of whether this need will extend past
the production.

I came to ILM seven years ago with a similar
scenario, as a web
designer. However, since I've been at ILM, I have learned,
worked, and excelled in every aspect of shot production. This is work that I am proud of and confident in
and it is easy for me leveraging it to a
long future with PIXAR.

In my previous email to you, I mentioned that this opportunity

was a close second to my marriage and birth of our first child. This is an honest comparison for me, as it has been my history
to pour
just as much passion into my profession. I would like to contribute this
same passion and
professionalism to PIXAR.
Do you have flexibility
in the
offer to either bring the run-of-show compensation
up to [REDACTED] or make the offer a contract
position with a duration longer than a 11
months? I'm confident
we'll be able to meet in the middle. Please
give me a call so we can discuss this further.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

----- Original
message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

As I
mentioned during our phone
conversation,
attached is an explanation of Pixar's
standard
benefits,
which will help give you an idea of the overall compensation
package.

Please review
this information
and don't hesitate to contact me
with any questions.

We're all very excited about
the prospect of you joining Pixar
and I look forward
to speaking
with you soon.

Take care,
Dawn

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 1, 2007
5:04:28 PM PST
To:
[REDACTED] Subject: Pixar's Benefits
Information

<Benefits Form .doc>

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 5, 2007 9:22:12 AM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Pixar's Benefits Information

Hello [REDACTED]

I was in late meetings Friday evening so didn't receive your email until this morning. I understand your concerns regarding salary
but in all honesty, I don't know how much flexibility we will have. Pixar is a studio that offers employees an opportunity to work creatively with the knowledge that new hires are brought on board and paid fairly compared to existing Pixar employees. We always try to put our best offer out initially because it's important to recognize one's talent from the start - so that artists don't feel the need to go back and forth regarding money. This is also one of the reasons that we don't operate on a contract basis...it's paramount that artists are here because they enjoy the collaborative work environment while being paid a fair and respectable salary.

If I could extend the run-of-show duration of the project, I would be more than willing but unfortunately, that's not in our control. The production schedules are relatively set and we try to estimate the approximate work load to the best of our ability. There is always the possibility that a "wrap date" will run longer, but we can't make that guarantee.

You are, without a doubt, incredibly talented and I know the show feels you would be a good fit. We also can respect your concerns and understand leaving a regular full-time position can be very daunting. It's important that you feel you're being paid fairly and within a comfortable range. As I mentioned before, we don't have much flexibility regarding salary but I will check with Jim Morris, (VP of Production) and share your concerns. While we might not be able to increase the salary by any great amounts, perhaps we can consider a sign on bonus.

Jim's schedule can be rather hectic but I will get time on his calendar as soon as possible. I should be able to touch base with you within the next couple days. Hope you had a nice weekend!

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 2, 2007, at 3:20 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for your time and this incredible opportunity to work with PIXAR. It has been my career goal to work with such a collaborative and creative studio. I have reviewed the offer and want to discuss some concerns.

My first concern is that the offer is substantially less than my current earnings (my salary plus my contract work). It was my hope that I could put aside my contract work and focus completely on the position at PIXAR. Considering my discussions with Ellen, I feel that my skills and past experience uniquely qualify me for this project, and that the breadth of my proficiency will prove valuable to the production as a whole and PIXAR into the future.

My second concern is that the duration of the position is run-of-show.

Although I completely understand that PIXAR makes no discernment between run-of-show employees and regular employees, the difference for me are my fiscal responsibilities and the longer term health of my career.

I appreciate the production's need for this particular skill set and the uncertainty of whether this need will extend past the production.

I came to ILM seven years ago with a similar scenario, as a web designer. However, since I've been at ILM, I have learned, worked, and excelled in every aspect of shot production. This is work that I am proud of and confident in and it is easy for me leveraging it to a long future with PIXAR.

In my previous email to you, I mentioned that this opportunity was a close second to my marriage and birth of our first child. This is an honest comparison for me, as it has been my history to pour just as much passion into my profession. I would like to contribute this same passion and professionalism to PIXAR.

Do you have flexibility in
the offer to either bring the run-of-show compensation up to [REDACTED] or make the offer a contract position with a duration longer than a 11 months? I'm confident we'll be able to meet in the middle. Please give me a call so we can discuss this further.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

As I mentioned during our phone conversation,
attached is an explanation of Pixar's standard benefits, which will help give
you an idea of the overall
compensation package.
Please review this information and don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

We're all very excited about the prospect of you joining Pixar
and I look forward to speaking with you soon.

Take care,
Dawn

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 1, 2007 5:04:28 PM

PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Pixar's Benefits Information

<Benefits Form .doc>

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 6, 2007 4:13:15 PM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Pixar's Benefits Information

Hello [REDACTED]

We've looked at everything further and here's the latest and greatest. With regard to salary, in comparing your skill set with internal artists, we're honestly not able to increase the salary and continue to be consistent with existing Pixar employees. You are amazingly talented and we truly recognize this talent, which is why we would love to have you at the Studio. One option that we're hoping will be feasible on your end is a signing bonus.

We would like to offer you a $10K signing bonus, which you would receive the first pay check after your start date (we are paid on a weekly basis). This will help add to your base salary and hopefully will help alleviate some of the salary concerns. As we also discussed, you'll be eligible for the 401K plan, vacation, family coverage for medical/dental/vision at only $90 p/month, classes through Pixar University, etc.

We completely understand the needs of your family and are desperately keeping our fingers crossed that everything will selfishly work in our favor :-). I'm in a number of meetings this afternoon and will be difficult to reach via telephone. I apologize for sending this via email but I wanted to get this information to you as soon as possible.

Please don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

Talk to you soon,
Dawn

On Feb 5, 2007, at 9:47 AM [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

Thank you for getting back to me so quickly and I certainly appreciate your candor. I feel the exact same way as PIXAR does about having artist that are there for the work and not the salary. I want to assure you that each time I think about the prospect of working there my primary motivation is working on "We" with Ralph and Ellen and all the amazing talented people at PIXAR, not salary. As I am sure you can appreciate I need to think of my other two important productions (mom and baby) :-) and what is best for them.

I have the utmost respect for Jim having worked for him on several occasions before he left ILM. I certainly appreciate you taking this matter up with him and anything you can do will be greatly appreciated. I look forward to hearing back from you.

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hello [REDACTED]

I was in late meetings Friday evening so didn't receive your email until this morning. I understand your concerns regarding salary but in all honesty, I don't know how much flexibility we will have. Pixar is a studio that offers employees an opportunity to work creatively with the knowledge that new hires are brought on board and paid fairly compared to existing Pixar employees. We always try to put our best offer out initially because it's important to recognize one's talent from the start - so that artists don't feel the need to go back and forth regarding money. This is also one of the reasons that we don't operate on a contract basis...it's paramount that artists are here because they enjoy the collaborative work environment while being paid a fair and respectable salary.

If I could extend the run-of-show duration of the project, I would be more than willing but unfortunately, that's not in our control. The production schedules are relatively set and we try to estimate the approximate work load to the best of our ability. There is always the possibility that a "wrap date" will run longer, but we can't make that guarantee.

You are, without a doubt, incredibly talented and I know the show feels you would be a good fit. We also can respect your concerns and understand leaving a regular full-time position can be very daunting. It's important that you feel you're being paid fairly and within a comfortable range. As I mentioned before, we don't have much flexibility regarding salary but I will check with Jim Morris, (VP of Production) and share your concerns. While we might not be able to increase the salary by any great amounts, perhaps we can consider a sign on bonus.

Jim's schedule can be rather hectic but I will get time on his calendar as soon as possible. I should be able to touch base with you within the next couple days. Hope you had a nice weekend!

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 2, 2007, at 3:20 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for your time and this incredible opportunity to work with PIXAR. It has been my career goal to work with such a collaborative and creative studio. I have reviewed the offer and want to discuss some concerns.

My first concern is that the offer is substantially less than my current earnings (my salary plus my contract work). It was my hope that I could put aside my contract work and focus completely on the position at PIXAR. Considering my discussions with Ellen, I feel that my skills and past experience uniquely qualify me for this project, and that the breadth of my proficiency will prove valuable to the production as a whole and PIXAR into the future.

My second concern is that the duration of the position is run-of-show.

Although I completely understand that PIXAR makes no discernment between run-of-show employees and regular employees, the difference for me are my fiscal responsibilities and the longer term health of my career.

I appreciate the production's need for this particular skill set and the uncertainty of whether this need will extend past the production.

I came to ILM seven years ago with a similar scenario, as a web designer. However, since I've been at ILM, I have learned, worked, and excelled in every aspect of shot production. This is work that I am proud of and confident in and it is easy for me leveraging it to a long future with PIXAR.

In my previous email to you, I mentioned that this opportunity was a close second to my marriage and birth of our first child. This is an honest comparison for me, as it has been my history to pour just as much passion into my profession. I would like to contribute this same passion and professionalism to PIXAR. Do you have flexibility in the offer to either bring the run-of-show compensation up to $[REDACTED] or make the offer a contract position with a duration longer than a 11 months? I'm confident we'll be able to meet in the middle. Please give me a call so we can discuss this further.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

As I mentioned during our phone conversation, attached is an explanation of Pixar's standard benefits, which will help give you an idea of the overall compensation package. Please review this information and don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

We're all very excited about the prospect of you joining Pixar and I look forward to speaking with you soon.

Take care,
Dawn

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 1, 2007 5:04:28 PM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Pixar's Benefits Information

<Benefits Form .doc>

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 5, 2007 9:22:12 AM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Pixar's Benefits Information

Hello [REDACTED]

I was in late meetings Friday evening so didn't receive your email until this morning. I understand your concerns regarding salary but in all honesty, I don't know how much flexibility we will have. Pixar is a studio that offers employees an opportunity to work creatively with the knowledge that new hires are brought on board and paid fairly compared to existing Pixar employees. We always try to put our best offer out initially because it's important to recognize one's talent from the start - so that artists don't feel the need to go back and forth regarding money. This is also one of the reasons that we don't operate on a contract basis...it's paramount that artists are here because they enjoy the collaborative work environment while being paid a fair and respectable salary.

If I could extend the run-of-show duration of the project, I would be more than willing but unfortunately, that's not in our control. The production schedules are relatively set and we try to estimate the approximate work load to the best of our ability. There is always the possibility that a "wrap date" will run longer, but we can't make that guarantee.

You are, without a doubt, incredibly talented and I know the show feels you would be a good fit. We also can respect your concerns and understand leaving a regular full-time position can be very daunting. It's important that you feel you're being paid fairly and within a comfortable range. As I mentioned before, we don't have much flexibility regarding salary but I will check with Jim Morris, (VP of Production) and share your concerns. While we might not be able to increase the salary by any great amounts, perhaps we can consider a sign on bonus.

Jim's schedule can be rather hectic but I will get time on his calendar as soon as possible. I should be able to touch base with you within the next couple days. Hope you had a nice weekend!

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 2, 2007, at 3:20 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for your time and this incredible opportunity to work with PIXAR. It has been my career goal to work with such a collaborative and creative studio. I have reviewed the offer and want to discuss some concerns.

My first concern is that the offer is substantially

less than my current earnings (my salary plus my contract work).
It was my hope that I could put aside my contract work and focus completely on the position at PIXAR. Considering my discussions with Ellen, I feel that my skills and past experience uniquely qualify me for this project, and that the breadth of my proficiency will prove valuable to the production as a whole and PIXAR into the future.

My second concern is that the duration of the position is run-of-show.
Although I completely understand that PIXAR makes no discernment
between run-of-show employees and regular employees, the difference for me are my fiscal responsibilities and the longer term health
of my career.

I appreciate the production's need for this particular skill set and the uncertainty of whether this need will extend past the production.
I came to ILM seven years ago with a similar scenario, as a web designer. However, since I've been at ILM, I have learned,
worked, and excelled in every aspect of shot production. This is work that I am proud of and confident in and it is easy for me leveraging it to a
long future with PIXAR.

In my previous email to you, I mentioned that this opportunity was a close second to my marriage and birth of our first child. This is an honest comparison for me, as it has been my history to pour just as much passion into my profession. I would like to contribute this
same passion and professionalism to PIXAR. Do you have flexibility in the offer to either bring the run-of-show compensation up to $[REDACTED] or make the offer a contract position with a duration longer than a 11 months? I'm confident we'll be able to meet in the middle. Please
give me a call so we can discuss this further.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

As I mentioned during our phone conversation, attached is an explanation of Pixar's standard benefits, which will help give you an idea of the overall compensation package. Please review this information and don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

We're all very excited about the prospect of you joining Pixar and I look forward to speaking with you soon.

Take care,
Dawn

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 1, 2007 5:04:28 PM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Pixar's Benefits Information

<Benefits Form .doc>

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 6, 2007 5:20:42 PM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Pixar's Benefits Information

Hi [REDACTED]

Don't worry about asking too many questions. Making career decisions can be very overwhelming and you are smart to explore and understand all the details.

Regarding stock options: The stock vests over 4 years, which means that after you pass your anniversary date, you have the option to "exercise" 25% of your total grant (in this case, the total grant is [REDACTED]). Every year someone works at Pixar, they are 25% more vesting, meaning they have access to an additional 25% of the [REDACTED] shares. Basically, [REDACTED] divided by 4 equals the amount you are able to exercise each year. You don't have to exercise your shares and can continue to stock pile (no pun intended) your shares.

I will probably be on email until 6:30 so if anything else comes up this evening, just let me know. I'm now holding my breath AND crossing my fingers.

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 6, 2007, at 4:57 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

This all looks great! I will talk this through with my wife one last time and have a final answer for you tomorrow. Thank you so much for taking the time to go back and fourth with me regarding all the details.

Not to drag this on any further I just have 2 more little informational type questions. Will I be eligible for any end of show bonus?

In regards to the options, the vesting period is 12 months but I remember speaking with you about them vesting in 4 increments. Is that to say then that the offer of [REDACTED] options, I would have to stay a full 4 years to realize all those? Or are they all available at the 12 month mark but I can only exercise 25% per year?

I am sooooo sorry that all this conversation revolves around money. Its just if I don't ask now I won't be able to ask later. I can't express to you how excited I am about this. Its difficult to start over but the prospect of working with such talented people on something so exciting is really awesome!

Thank you again

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hello [REDACTED]

We've looked at everything further and here's the latest and greatest. With regard to salary, in comparing your skill set with internal artists, we're honestly not able to increase the salary and continue to be consistent with existing Pixar employees. You are amazingly talented and we truly recognize this talent, which is why we would love to have you at the Studio. One option that we're hoping will be feasible on your end is a signing bonus.

We would like to offer you a $[REDACTED] signing bonus, which you would receive the first pay check after your start date (we are paid on a weekly basis). This will help add to your base salary and hopefully will help alleviate some of the salary concerns. As we also discussed, you'll be eligible for the 401K plan, vacation, family coverage for medical/dental/vision at only $[REDACTED] p/month, classes through Pixar University, etc.

We completely understand the needs of your family and are desperately keeping our fingers crossed that everything will selfishly work in our favor :-). I'm in a number of meetings this afternoon and will be difficult to reach via telephone. I apologize for sending this via email but I wanted to get this information to you as soon as possible.

Please don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

Talk to you soon,
Dawn

On Feb 5, 2007, at 9:47 AM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

Thank you for getting back to me so quickly and I certainly appreciate your candor. I feel the exact same way as PIXAR does about having artist that are there for the work and not the salary.

I want to assure you that each time I think about the prospect of working there my primary motivation is working on "W-e" with Ralph and Ellen and all the amazing talented people at PIXAR, not salary.

As I am sure you can appreciate I need to think of my other two important productions (mom and baby) ;-) and what is best for them.

I have the utmost respect for Jim having worked for him on several occasions before he left ILM. I certainly appreciate you taking this matter up with him and anything you can do will be greatly appreciated. I look forward to hearing back from you.

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hello [REDACTED]

I was in late meetings Friday evening so didn't receive your email until this morning. I understand your concerns regarding salary but in all honesty, I don't know how much flexibility we will have.

Pixar is a studio that offers employees an opportunity to work creatively with the knowledge that new hires are brought on board and paid fairly compared to existing Pixar employees.

We always try to put our best offer out initially because it's important to recognize one's talent from the start - so that artists don't feel the need to go back and forth regarding money. This is also one of the reasons that we don't operate on a contract basis...it's paramount that artists are here because they enjoy the collaborative work environment while being paid a fair and respectable salary.

If I could extend the run-of-show duration of the project, I would be more than willing but unfortunately, that's not in our control. The production schedules are relatively set and we try to estimate the approximate work load to the best of our ability. There is always the possibility that a "wrap date" will run longer, but we can't make that guarantee.

You are, without a doubt, incredibly talented and I know the show feels you would be a good fit. We also can respect your concerns and understand leaving a regular full-time position can be very daunting. It's important that you feel you're being paid fairly and within a comfortable range. As I mentioned before, we don't have much flexibility regarding salary but I will check with Jim Morris, (VP of Production) and share your concerns. While we might not be able to increase the salary by any great amounts, perhaps we can consider a sign on bonus.

Jim's schedule can be rather hectic but I will get time on his calendar as soon as possible. I should be able to touch base with you within the next couple days. Hope you had a nice weekend!

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 2, 2007, at 3:20 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for your time and this incredible opportunity to work with PIXAR. It has been my career goal to work with such a collaborative and creative studio. I have reviewed the offer and want to discuss some concerns.

My first concern is that the offer is substantially less than my current earnings (my salary plus my contract work). It was my hope that I could put aside my contract work and focus completely on the position at PIXAR. Considering my discussions with Ellen, I feel that my skills and past experience uniquely qualify me for this project, and that the breadth of my proficiency will prove valuable to the production as a whole and PIXAR into the future.

My second concern is that the duration of the position is run-of-show.

Although I completely understand that PIXAR makes no discernment between run-of-show employees and regular employees, the difference for me are my fiscal responsibilities and the longer term health of my career.

I appreciate the production's need for this particular skill set and the uncertainty of whether this need will extend past the production.

I came to ILM seven years ago with a similar scenario, as a web designer. However, since I've been at ILM, I have learned, worked, and excelled in every aspect of shot production. This is work that I am proud of and confident in and it is easy for me leveraging it to a long future with PIXAR.

In my previous email to you, I mentioned that this opportunity was a close second to my marriage and birth of our first child. This is an honest comparison for me, as it has been my history to pour just as much passion into my profession. I would like to contribute this same passion and professionalism to PIXAR. Do you have flexibility in the offer to either bring the run-of-show compensation up to [REDACTED] or make the offer a contract position with a duration longer than a 11 months? I'm confident we'll be able to meet in the middle. Please give me a call so we can discuss this further.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

As I mentioned during our phone conversation, attached is an explanation of Pixar's standard benefits, which will help give you an idea of the overall compensation package. Please review this information and don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

We're all very excited about the prospect of you joining Pixar and I look forward to speaking with you soon.

Take care,
Dawn

From: Dawn Haagstad
<dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 1, 2007 5:04:28 PM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Pixar's Benefits Information

<Benefits Form .doc>

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 5, 2007 9:22:12 AM PST
To: [REDACTED]

Subject: Re: Pixar's Benefits Information

Hello [REDACTED]

I was in late meetings Friday evening so didn't receive your email until this morning. I understand your concerns regarding salary but in all honesty, I don't know how much flexibility we will have. Pixar is a studio that offers employees an opportunity to work creatively with the knowledge that new hires are brought on board and paid fairly compared to existing Pixar employees. We always try to put our best offer out initially because it's important to recognize one's talent from the start - so that artists don't feel the need to go back and forth regarding money. This is also one of the reasons that we don't operate on a contract basis...it's paramount that artists are here because they enjoy the collaborative work environment while being paid a fair and respectable salary.

If I could extend the run-of-show duration of the project, I would be more than willing but unfortunately, that's not in our control. The production schedules are relatively set and we try to estimate the approximate work load to the best of our ability. There is always the possibility that a "wrap date" will run longer, but we can't make that guarantee.

You are, without a doubt, incredibly talented and I know the show feels you would be a good fit. We also can respect your concerns and understand leaving a regular full-time position can be very daunting. It's important that you feel you're being paid fairly and within a comfortable range. As I mentioned before, we don't have much flexibility regarding salary but I will check with Jim Morris, (VP of Production) and share your concerns. While we might not be able to increase the salary by any great amounts, perhaps we can consider a sign on bonus.

Jim's schedule can be rather hectic but I will get time on his calendar as soon as possible. I should be able to touch base with you within the next couple days. Hope you had a nice weekend!

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 2, 2007, at 3:20 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for your time and this incredible opportunity to work with PIXAR. It has been my career goal to work with such a collaborative and creative studio. I have reviewed the offer and want to discuss some concerns.

My first concern is that the offer is substantially less than my current earnings (my salary plus my contract work). It was my hope that I could put aside my contract work and focus completely on the position at PIXAR. Considering my discussions with Ellen, I feel that my skills and past experience uniquely qualify me for this project, and that the breadth of my proficiency will prove valuable to the production as a whole and PIXAR into the future.

My second concern is that the duration of the position is run-of-show.

Although I completely understand that PIXAR makes no discernment between run-of-show employees and regular employees, the difference for me are my fiscal responsibilities and the longer term health of my career.

I appreciate the production's need for this particular skill set and the uncertainty of whether this need will extend past the production.

I came to ILM seven years ago with a similar scenario, as a web designer. However, since I've been at ILM, I have learned, worked, and excelled in every aspect of shot production. This is work that I am proud of and confident in and it is easy for me leveraging it to a long future with PIXAR.

In my previous email to you, I mentioned that this opportunity was a close second to my marriage and birth of our first child. This is an honest comparison for me, as it has been my history to pour just as much passion into my profession. I would like to contribute this same passion and professionalism to PIXAR. Do you have flexibility in the

offer to either bring the run-of-show compensation
up to [REDACTED] or
make the offer a contract position with a duration longer than a 11
months? I'm confident we'll be able to meet in the middle. Please
give me a call so we can discuss this further.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

As I mentioned during our phone conversation, attached is an explanation of Pixar's standard benefits, which will help give
you an idea of the overall compensation package. Please review this information and don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

We're all very excited about the prospect of you joining Pixar and I look forward to speaking with you soon.

Take care,
Dawn

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 1, 2007 5:04:28 PM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Pixar's Benefits Information

<Benefits Form .doc>

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 6, 2007 4:13:15 PM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Pixar's Benefits Information

Hello [REDACTED]

We've looked at everything further and here's the latest and greatest. With regard to salary, in comparing your skill set with internal artists, we're honestly not able to increase the salary and continue to be consistent with existing Pixar employees. You are amazingly talented and we truly recognize this talent, which is why we would love to have you at the Studio. One option that we're hoping will be feasible on your end is a signing bonus.

We would like to offer you a $1[REDACTED] signing bonus, which you would receive the first pay check after your start date (we are paid on a weekly basis). This will help add to your base salary and hopefully will help alleviate some of the salary concerns. As we also discussed, you'll be eligible for the 401K plan, vacation, family coverage for medical/dental/vision at only $90 p/month, classes through Pixar University, etc.

We completely understand the needs of your family and are desperately keeping our fingers crossed that everything will selfishly work in our favor :-). I'm in a number of meetings this afternoon and will be difficult to reach via telephone. I apologize for sending this via email but I wanted to get this information to you as soon as possible.

Please don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

Talk to you soon,
Dawn

On Feb 5, 2007, at 9:47 AM [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

Thank you for getting back to me so quickly and I certainly appreciate your candor. I feel the exact same way as PIXAR does about having artist that are there for the work and not the salary. I want to assure you that each time I think about the prospect of working there my primary motivation is working on "W-e" with Ralph and Ellen and all the amazing talented people at PIXAR, not salary. As I am sure you can appreciate I need to think of my other two important productions (mom and baby) :- and what is best for them.

I have the utmost respect for Jim having worked for him on several occasions before he left ILM. I certainly appreciate you taking this matter up with him and anything you can do will be greatly appreciated. I look forward to hearing back from you.

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hello [REDACTED]

I was in late meetings Friday evening so didn't receive your email until this morning. I understand your concerns regarding salary but in all honesty, I don't know how much flexibility we will have. Pixar is a studio that offers employees an opportunity to work creatively with the knowledge that new hires are brought on board and paid fairly compared to existing Pixar employees. We always

try to put our best offer out initially because it's important to recognize one's talent from the start - so that artists don't feel the need to go back and forth regarding money. This is also one of the reasons
that we don't operate on a contract basis...it's paramount that artists are here because they enjoy the collaborative work environment while being paid a fair and respectable salary.

If I could extend the run-of-show duration of the project, I would be more than willing but unfortunately, that's not in our control.
The
production schedules are relatively set and we try to estimate
the approximate work load to the best of our ability. There is always the possibility that a "wrap date" will run longer, but we can't make
that guarantee.

You are, without a doubt, incredibly talented and I know the show feels you would be a good fit. We also can respect your concerns and understand leaving a regular full-time position can be very daunting. It's important that you feel you're being paid fairly and within a comfortable range. As I mentioned before, we don't have much flexibility regarding salary but I will check with Jim Morris, (VP of Production) and share your concerns. While we might not be able to increase the salary by any great amounts, perhaps we can consider a sign on bonus.

Jim's schedule can be rather hectic but I will get time on his calendar as soon as possible. I should be able to touch base with you within the next couple days. Hope you had a nice weekend!

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 2, 2007, at 3:20 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for your time and this incredible opportunity to work with PIXAR. It has been my career goal to work with such a collaborative and creative studio. I have reviewed the offer and want to discuss some concerns.

My first concern is that the offer is substantially less than my current earnings (my salary plus my contract work). It was my hope that I could put aside my contract work and focus completely on the position at PIXAR. Considering my discussions with Ellen, I feel that my skills and past experience uniquely qualify me for this project, and that the breadth of my proficiency will prove valuable to the production as a whole and PIXAR into the future.

My second concern is that the duration of the position is run-of-show. Although I completely understand that PIXAR makes no discernment between run-of-show employees and regular employees, the difference for me are my fiscal responsibilities and the longer term health of my career.

I appreciate the production's need for this particular skill set and the uncertainty of whether this need will extend past the production. I came to ILM seven years ago with a similar scenario, as a web designer. However, since I've been at ILM, I have learned, worked, and excelled in every aspect of shot production. This is work that I am proud of and confident in and it is easy for me leveraging it to a long future with PIXAR.

In my previous email to you, I mentioned that this opportunity was a close second to my marriage and birth of our first child. This is an honest comparison for me, as it has been my history to pour just as much passion into my profession. I would like to contribute this same passion and professionalism to PIXAR. Do you have flexibility in the offer to either bring the run-of-show compensation up to $[REDACTED] or make the offer a contract position with a duration longer than a 11 months? I'm confident we'll be able to meet in the middle. Please give me a call so we can discuss this further.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

As I mentioned during our phone conversation, attached is an explanation of Pixar's standard benefits, which will help give you an idea of the overall compensation package. Please review this information and don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

We're all very excited about the prospect of you joining Pixar and I look forward to speaking with you soon.

Take care,
Dawn

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 1, 2007 5:04:28 PM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Pixar's Benefits Information

<Benefits Form .doc>

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 5, 2007 9:22:12 AM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Pixar's Benefits Information

Hello [REDACTED]

I was in late meetings Friday evening so didn't receive your email until this morning. I understand your concerns regarding salary but in all honesty, I don't know how much flexibility we will have. Pixar is a studio that offers employees an opportunity to work creatively with the knowledge that new hires are brought on board and paid fairly compared to existing Pixar employees. We always try to put our best offer out initially because it's important to recognize one's talent from the start - so that artists don't feel the need to go back and forth regarding money. This is also one of the reasons that we don't operate on a contract basis...it's paramount that artists are here because they enjoy the collaborative work environment while being paid a fair and respectable salary.

If I could extend the run-of-show duration of the project, I would be more than willing but unfortunately, that's not in our control. The production schedules are relatively set and we try to estimate the approximate work load to the best of our ability. There is always the possibility that a "wrap date" will run longer, but we can't make that guarantee.

You are, without a doubt, incredibly talented and I know the show feels you would be a good fit. We also can respect your concerns and understand leaving a regular full-time position can be very daunting. It's important that you feel you're being paid fairly and within a comfortable range. As I mentioned before, we don't have much flexibility regarding salary but I will check with Jim Morris, (VP of Production) and share your concerns. While we might not be able to increase the salary by any great amounts, perhaps we can consider a sign on bonus.

Jim's schedule can be rather hectic but I will get time on his calendar as soon as possible. I should be able to touch base with you within the next couple days. Hope you had a nice weekend!

Take care,
Dawn

On Feb 2, 2007, at 3:20 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Dawn,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for your time and this incredible opportunity to work with PIXAR. It has been my career goal to work with such a collaborative and creative studio. I have reviewed the offer and want to discuss some concerns.

My first concern is that the offer is substantially less than my current earnings (my salary plus my contract work). It was my hope that I could put aside my contract work and focus completely on the position at PIXAR. Considering my discussions with Ellen, I feel that my skills and past experience uniquely qualify me for this project, and that the breadth of my proficiency will prove valuable to the production as a whole and PIXAR into the future.

My second concern is that the duration of the position is run-of-show. Although I completely understand that PIXAR makes no discernment between run-of-show employees and regular employees, the difference for me are my fiscal responsibilities and the longer term health of my career.

I appreciate the production's need for this particular skill set and the uncertainty of whether this need will extend past the production. I came to ILM seven years ago with a similar scenario, as a web designer. However, since I've been at ILM, I have learned, worked, and excelled in every aspect of shot production. This is work that I am proud of and confident in and it is easy for me leveraging it to a long future with PIXAR.

In my previous email to you, I mentioned that this opportunity was a close second to my marriage and birth of our first child. This is an honest comparison for me, as it has been my history to pour just as much passion into my profession. I would like to contribute this same passion and professionalism to PIXAR. Do you have flexibility in the offer to either bring the run-of-show compensation up to $[REDACTED] or make the offer a contract position with a duration longer than a 11 months? I'm confident we'll be able to meet in the middle. Please give me a call so we can discuss this further.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

----- Original message -----
From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>

Hi [REDACTED]

As I mentioned during our phone conversation, attached is an explanation of Pixar's standard benefits, which will help give you an idea of the overall compensation package. Please review this information and don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

We're all very excited about the prospect of you joining Pixar and I look forward to speaking with you soon.

Take care,
Dawn

From: Dawn Haagstad <dawn@pixar.com>
Date: February 1, 2007 5:04:28 PM PST
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Pixar's Benefits Information

<Benefits Form .doc>